

Lumbosacral Corset

The lumbosacral corset is an adjustable flexible cloth or elastic garment worn around the torso and pelvis to increase intra-abdominal pressure and to remind the patient to restrict motion. It is frequently used for pain control and mild lumbar support.

Indications:

- Patients who would benefit from decreased loading of the vertebrae and discs.
- Lumbosacral disorders including: degenerative disc disease, postural fatigue, acute flexion injuries, osteoarthritis, and osteoporosis.

Photo courtesy of Cascade