

Minerva Cervical Thoracic Orthosis

The Minerva is a type of cervical thoracic orthosis that has a flexible thoracic vest section with aluminum reinforcement that attaches to the head and neck supports. The purpose of this orthosis is to immobilize the neck and upper spine (C1 to T1).

Indications:

- Jefferson's fracture without transverse ligament injury, stable burst fractures, light wedge fractures following traction, or occipital condyle avulsion fractures.

Photo courtesy of Cascade