

Hip Disarticulation

A hip disarticulation procedure is the surgical removal of the femur (thigh bone) from the pelvic girdle (hip). The entire lower extremity (leg) is separated from the body without cutting through the bones.

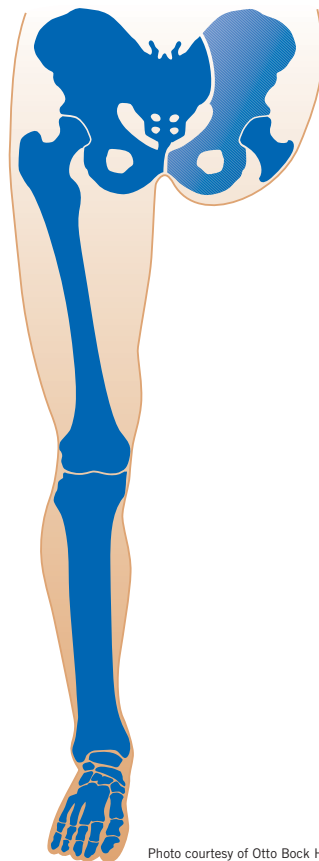

Photo courtesy of Otto Bock Healthcare

Modern Technology. Traditional Values. Proven Techniques.