

Hydraulic Knee

The hydraulic knee is a single axis prosthetic knee in which the flexion and extension of the shin section of the prosthetic leg are controlled by a fluid-filled cylinder to offer the patient cadence control (this allows the patient to walk at a self-selected walking speed).

Photo courtesy of Cascade