

Pneumatic Knee

The pneumatic knee is a single axis knee in which flexion and extension of the shin section of the prosthetic leg are controlled by an air-filled cylinder to offer the patient cadence control (this allows the patient to walk at a self-selected walking speed).

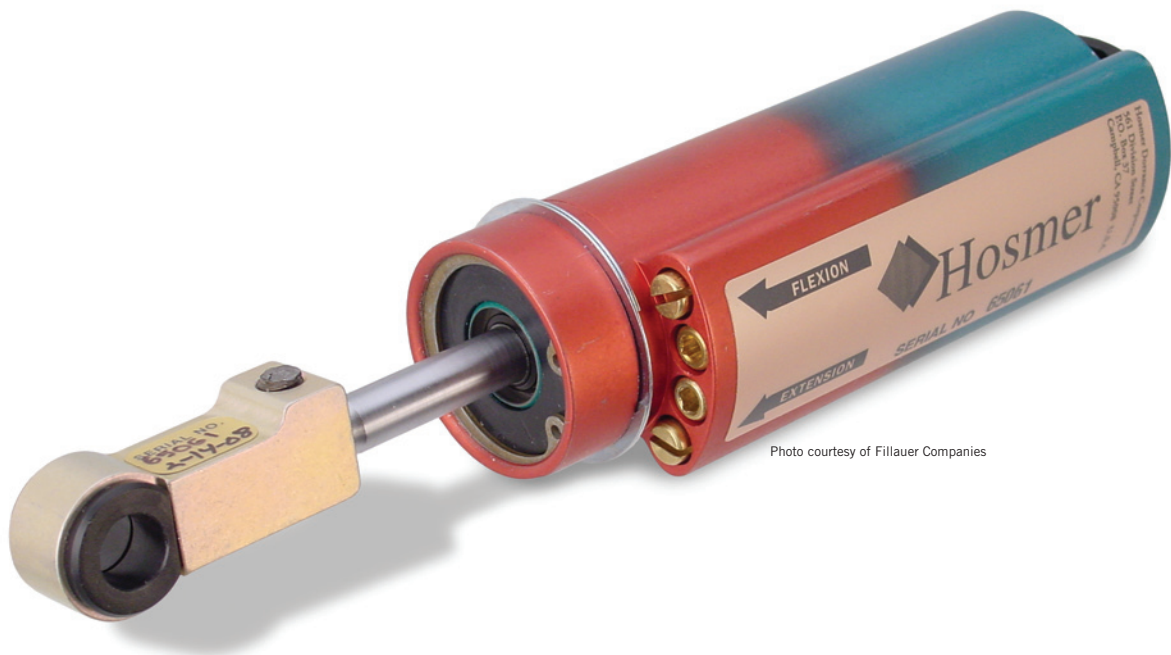

Photo courtesy of Fillauer Companies