

Supracondylar Suspension

Supracondylar suspension is a socket design used in transradial (below elbow) prostheses. The socket extends proximal to (above) the humeral condyles (wide bony parts of the elbow) and creates suspension for the prosthesis without additional straps.

Modern Technology. Traditional Values. Proven Techniques.